

MOVE TO HELP RUSSIAN TRADE

War Trade Board Will Receive Applications to Export Goods.

The first definite step looking toward the establishment of economic relations with Russia was taken by the United States yesterday.

The War Trade Board, in a new ruling, announced that beginning today applications will be considered for the exportation of all commodities to Russia.

There has been practically no trade between Russia and the United States since Germany, through the treaty of the Brest-Litovsk, Lenine and Trotsky, gained control of the Russian army and complete domination of the internal affairs of that betrayed country.

The significance of the announcement by the War Trade Board lies in the fact that it evinces a determination of the government to begin at the earliest possible moment the opening up of general trade with Siberia and the Archangel district, which have successfully resisted German force and influence.

Exporters of general merchandise are invited to file their applications with the Bureau of Exports in Washington. This does not mean that shipments on any extensive scale will begin immediately, as the scarcity of freight tonnage is still almost as great a drawback as it has been in the past few months.

Cargo Space on Pacific.

But American vessels are regularly leaving the Pacific Coast with supplies for Vladivostok, and the prospect is held out to exporters of finding a limited amount of cargo space for commercial commodities aboard them. In allocating space preference will be given to material covered by license issued on and after today.

The underlying purpose of the new rule is to obtain in a general way an inventory of the merchandise, made up and ready for shipment, in the hands of American exporters and suitable for introduction in the sections of Russia where the United States and our allies are dominant.

The War Trade Board for several months has been making a thorough study of the economic needs of Russia and desires to be in a position to facilitate American shipments as soon as the necessary cargo space is available.

SUFFRAGISTS START SENATE PICKET LINE

Women suffragists will today establish a picket line around the Senate side of the Capitol and with emboldened banners will call attention to the fact that thirty-four anti-suffrage Senators are opposing not only the enfranchisement of women, but the urgent appeal of the President and the war policy of their country.

The picket force, which have had to work against for five years have now capitulated, except these Senators," said Alice Paul, chairman of the National Woman's Party, yesterday. "The House has been carried, and the Administration has been won as our frank ally. In ceasing our opposition to the Administration we are simply recognizing a victory, and we are now moving on to picket and attack the opposition where it remains."

LESS MEAT IF BACK AND KIDNEYS HURT

Take a Glass of Salts to Flush Kidneys If Bladder Bothers You. Drink Lots of Water.

Eating meat regularly eventually produces kidney trouble in some form or other, says a well-known authority, because the uric acid in meat excites the kidneys, they become overworked, get sluggish, clog up and cause all sorts of distress, particularly backache and misery in the kidney region; rheumatic twinges, severe headaches, acid stomach, constipation, torpid liver, sleeplessness, bladder and urinary irritation.

The moment your back hurts or kidneys aren't acting right, or if bladder bothers you, get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any good pharmacy; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush clogged kidneys and stimulate them to normal activity; also to neutralize the acids in the urine so it no longer irritates, thus ending bladder disorders.

Jad Salts cannot injure anyone; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which millions of men and women take now and then to keep the kidneys and urinary organs clean, thus avoiding serious kidney disease.—Adv.

was made up of small coin, saved by the children and other members of the family. At another the bank account of the head of the family amounted to only $4.30, and he drew a check for this amount and gave it to the solicitor with 11 cents in change. One aged colored washer-woman told the solicitor that her only son was in France with Gen. Pershing, and said she was glad to put her savings in a $50 bond to help "back him up."

Had $4 for Uncle Sam.

At another humble home a woman told the canvasser that she had only $4 and not sufficient earning power to pay even $5 a month on a $50 bond, but said she wanted to give the $4 to the government. The canvasser is insisting it in war savings stamps for her.

The canvassers were unanimous in their reports of courteous treatment accorded them by everyone and of a desire on the part of the people generally to be helpful in making the work pleasant and easy. In thousands of homes men and women had checks drawn and ready to present to the canvassers when they called, while others had the cash readily accessible.

Another remarkable evidence of the spirit of co-operation on the part of the people was the fact that at practically every home the canvassers found the dwellers in and waiting for them. After 1 o'clock, when the canvass started, the streets were practically deserted, and those few individuals who did not wait to receive the bond salesman, almost without exception, wore Fourth Liberty Loan buttons.

High Percentage of Buyers.

Yesterday's canvass was the first time an accurate means had been provided of ascertaining the percentage of adults who subscribed to any liberty loan. The result will show that more than ninety-nine per cent of the adults of any earning capacity bought bonds of the fourth liberty loan.

At liberty loan headquarters last night the committee and several dozen volunteers worked until midnight, receiving reports of the more than 200 team captains. After reporting to headquarters they turned in their subscriptions, together with the cash collected, to Richard W. Hinson, chairman of the subcommittee on clearances, who, with a dozen or more volunteers, worked at top speed, checking, assorting and tabulating the subscriptions. The clearance subcommittee headquarters is at the office of the National City Company, 741 Fifteenth street.

McAdoo Urges All Buy More Liberty Bonds

"The second week of the Fourth Liberty Loan campaign opens with the most tremendous task of all loans, said Secretary McAdoo yesterday, "and that is to get the government's sales force, declared William G. McAdoo yesterday. "Not only are the canvassers confronted with the herculean problem of the entire period of the campaign than they ever have attempted to sell, but the daily sales averages to date are far below what they should be. At the outset of the present campaign it was necessary to sell $215,000,000 per day in order to float the loan. Based on sales reports to banks and trust companies, the task has increased to the point where an average of $450,000,000 in subscriptions must be taken daily between now and the close of business on October 19 if the $6,000,000,000 desired is subscribed."

Must Heed Slogan.

"If there is one explanation to the apparent lagging of the loan it is the failure of the purchasers to heed the slogan of the drive, 'Buy More Bonds.' Reports from all parts of the country indicate that there is a failure on the part of persons who bought bonds in the third loan to buy again, but some of them are forgetting that they not only must buy again but they must buy more bonds than ever before. There probably will be many sales during the present loan to persons who have not bought heretofore, but unless an enormous army of new subscribers are obtained it will be necessary for former subscribers to buy approximately 50 per cent more bonds than they did in the third loan to send the fourth over the top. New subscribers scarcely will take the added $2,000,000,000, it is believed.

"These facts are to be borne in by salesmen throughout the country this week on moderate wage earners and wealthy persons alike. Not only will small purchasers be told that they must do more than they have heretofore, but the attention of the wealthy to be called forcibly to the fact which Secretary McAdoo made at the outset of the campaign, that only 22,500 persons bought more than $10,000 worth of bonds in the third campaign.

"Double the Third' is a slogan that is suggested for workers and buyers alike. If this can be done, and there are those who think it can if everyone will do his or her utmost, it would mean an unprecedented record for volume in world loans."

Canvass Every District.

"Today will find active canvassing under way in every district, Kansas City workers being the last to start. They spent the first week of the drive in doing propaganda work, and reports of a fine spirit among the people came from there tonight. Some optimistic workers thought it would be possible to obtain their quotas in one day, but this opinion was not general.

"Only scattering detailed sales reports reached the Treasury Department today. Both the Cleveland and San Francisco districts announced that they had passed the $100,000,000 mark. Thirty of forty-one counties in Idaho have obtained their quotas. Washington is at the thirty-seven per cent mark, and North Carolina at forty-eight. In order to accommodate farmer subscribers, salesmen will be placed at voting booths in sections of the Cleveland district where primaries are to be held. Midnight meetings are being held in some factories for workers who cannot attend day meetings.

"In districts where Spanish influenza is interfering with campaigning, telephones are being used generally by canvassers to arouse interest."

Names October 16 As Navy Day

"Secretary McAdoo has named October 16 as 'Navy Day' in the liberty loan campaign. In his statement he says:

"To commemorate the heroic and inspiring achievements of the American Navy in this war, Wednesday, October 16, is hereby designated as Navy Day in the fourth liberty loan campaign, and I desire every liberty loan committee to do its utmost to co-operate with navy people and to make the occasion worthy of the great service which it honors."

MONKEYS ESCAPE SPANISH INFLUENZA, SAYS EXPERT

Such was the substance of a reply by Superintendent Hollister of the Zoological Park last night to the report that the monkeys in the "Zoo" were down in bed with the Spanish influenza.

"Although monkeys have ailments similar to their human counterparts," remarked Mr. Hollister, "those we have in our charge are so well-guarded and taken care of, that an influenza germ would only be wasting its time in the Zoo."

To prevent any possible chance of infection, Superintendent Hollister ordered the houses which shelter the birds, monkeys and lions closed yesterday thus preventing the spread of the disease by large crowds of people who usually gather at the "Zoo" on Sundays.

Doctors who have studied the habits and failings of monkeys state that although a monkey can contract the same diseases as a man, he

Life Insurance Assets For Liberty Loan

Secretary McAdoo has received from Mr. E. G. Simmons, president of the American Life Convention, a copy of a resolution adopted at the 1918 annual meeting of the convention, held at Chicago.

The resolution calls attention to the fact that the British government has requested British life insurance companies to invest twenty per cent of their assets in British war loans, and pledges the companies comprising the American Life Convention to invest in liberty bonds "not only twenty per cent of their assets, but any such amount as may be necessary."

The American Life Convention is composed of 113 American legal reserve life insurance companies domiciled in thirty-four States. These companies have insurance in force of $1,240,000,000 and total assets of nearly $500,000,000.

CALL FOR MEN ON MUNITIONS

Loss of Big Shell-Loading Plant Makes Drastic Step Necessary.

The loss of America's biggest shell-loading plant has made necessary a call for munition workers to the Federal directors of labor throughout the United States by Nathan A. Smith, Assistant Director General, United States Employment Service.

The Ordnance Department, said Mr. Smith yesterday, reports an immediate labor shortage in existing munition plants of 150,000 unskilled laborers. The men for this service can only be recruited from nonessential industries. This means that women must be substituted for men wherever possible in the nonessential industries in order to release a sufficient number of men.

Wire to State Councils.

Secretary Lane, chairman of the field division of the Council of National Defense, sent the following telegram to the State Councils of Defense yesterday:

"A stock of high explosive shells imperatively needed in France has been destroyed and the flow of these supplies has been retarded not only for the present moment, but for months to come unless by putting additional burdens on all other American munition plants. Within the next forty-eight hours the number of men to be supplied from each State will be wired by the United States Employment Service to its Federal State Director. This call for men must be met. The work is dangerous, but that will not deter any one."

and Sarah E. Smith, 40, 345 V street northwest.

With the crisis of the epidemic approaching, the city faces a dearth of Big Shell-Loading Plant workers. Doctors have been greatly depleted during the last few months by enlistments for army service. This left a small number of physicians to cope with the increased population of Washington under the most favorable health conditions. With this abnormal need of medical advice on the part of the stricken people, the remaining physicians have had a great burden placed upon them. They are, in many cases, unable to answer their calls for many hours.

Many Nurses Needed.

Nurses, too, are needed in greater numbers than they can possibly be supplied. In spite of the fact that many volunteers for this service, the requests cannot be met. Commissioner Brownlow asked that the home nurses be used in the city before an attempt is made to supply other districts with nurses.

The Chesapeake and Potomac telephone system has been greatly hampered by the many operators who are at home ill with the epidemic. Officials of the company state that approximately eighteen per cent of the girls have been stricken. They are being cared for by physicians of the company and every safeguard is being taken to prevent the spread of the disease among the employees.

Attend War Personnel.

The enlisted and civilian personnel of the Army and Navy departments are receiving the most careful medical attention. Every effort is being made to prevent the government departments from being seriously handicapped through the illness of their staffs. Visiting nurses are now being sent out to report on the condition of each war worker who is absent through illness.

All suspected cases of Spanish influenza in the personnel of the Navy Department are receiving immediate care. Surgeon General W. C. Braisted, U. S. N., has issued an order that all persons suffering from cold be sent home and that a close watch be kept of the physical condition of all the enlisted and civilian persons in the department.

Excellent Specimens of ORIENTAL RUGS
At Very Attractive Prices

As one of the largest importers in America of Rugs from the Far East, we are in a position to offer a better selection of such weaves than is usually available.

In view of the extreme difficulty of bringing Oriental Rugs into this country for the duration of the war, it is advisable to secure such Floor Coverings while the stock on hand is as varied as it now is.

Our assortment comprises a profusion of beautiful designs in Persian, Chinese and Turkish Rugs, in small, medium, and large "carpet" sizes—which we offer at prices we believe are the lowest equally good specimens can be bought for.

PHILADELPHIA DRY DURING EPIDEMIC

Residents Stock Up for Rest of Closed Period.

Philadelphia, Oct. 6.—This city is now dry until the influenza epidemic has passed—not so a large number of its inhabitants, if judgment is to be based upon the eleventh-hour rush to "stock up" or "tank up" made by crowds immediately before the dry rule became effective.

Saloons, bars, cafes and club side-boards were called on for bottled goods to tide over persons with constant thirst until the town again becomes wet. Many individuals apparently tried to imbibe enough to last them a lifetime, instead of providing bottled goods for the dry period.

Preventing Industrial Accidents.

By educating workmen, industrial accidents can be largely prevented, according to C. W. Price, field secretary of the National Safety Council. Speaking before an audience in Seattle, Wash., recently, Mr. Price said: "Education of the workman has prevented about 86 per cent of the accidents usual in certain plants. About one-third can be controlled by mechanical provisions. The manager and superintendent of a plant must believe thoroughly in the safety-first movement; foremen also must uphold it."

It was pointed out that in every plant there should be a man who studied safety methods and had power to apply them. Mr. Price declared also that every plant should tell by word and picture on a bulletin board all minor accidents and that a committee of workmen should be appointed to investigate and report on all accidents.
